Near-Tragedy Caused When Panic Seizes Peralta Passengers

BULLETIN—FEB. 18—3 A. M.

Officials of the Key-System Transit Company, operators of the Peralta, announced at an early hour this morning that as far as they were able to determine, 20 passengers had been swept overboard by the giant wave which caused panic in the crowded ferry last night.

Of the 20, they have accounted for 14. Six were still unaccounted for. Coast guard cutters were patrolling San Francisco Bay this morning looking for any possible dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 17.—Disaster, lightly dipped its black wings into the waters of San Francisco bay early tonight and departed, leaving in its wake, a legion of reports, hazy, conflicting and unconfirmed.

While crossing the bay from San Francisco to Oakland at the hour when the city's workers are homeward bound, panic broke loose in the cabin and on the deck of the Key System ferry boat "Peralta" and in the midst of it about seven passengers were reported to have been swept off the forward deck, where hundreds of persons had gathered in readiness for the docking at the Oakland mole.

A widespread check of hospitals and morgues in the San Francisco metropolitan area disclosed the presence of two of the reported victims in the Oakland Emergency hospital.

These two suffering from immersion were J. H. Nichols and Manuel Pacheco. They will recover, hospital attendants report.

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

According to the story told by the two patients, a man on board the Peralta tried to take his life by stepping overboard. Several hundred passengers grew excited over the attempted suicide and in the midst of the excitement a great wave, coming in the wake of another ferry boat in the bay struck the side of the Peralta. Pandemonium broke loose, according to Nicholl and Pacheco.

TIME ENDS FOR SALE OF FERRY

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17.—Negotiations carried on for the last week for the sale of the Richmond-San Rafael Ferry Company to Roy O. Long, holder of a franchise for construction of a $15,000,000 bridge joining Contra Costa and Marin counties were at an end today, according to a statement made by Charles Van Damme, ferry company president.

NEGOTIATIONS END

Denying published reports that the ferry system had been sold to Long or to the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge, Inc., of which Long is president, Van Damme declared that "negotiations are absolutely at an end."

"They had until noon yesterday to accept the sale proposal the ferry company made and they did not do so," Van Damme added, corroborating statements in yesterday's Daily Standard.

COUNSEL DENIES SALE

J. E. Rodgers of Martinez, one of counsel for Long, also denied acquisition of the ferry. "We have not bought any ferry that I know of," Rodgers asserted. Added to these denials were the voices of Henry Jacobs of San Francisco, attorney, and H. T. Gill, manager of the ferry company. (Continued on Page Eight)

LOCAL BOARD HONORS STATE REALTY HEADS

Amid delightful surroundings, and with the tables beautifully decorated with bouquets of flowers and greenery, the state officers of the California Real Estate association, were the guests of honor at a banquet given yesterday noon by the Richmond Real Estate Board at the Berkeley Country club.

"Optimism of the great work that had been done by the realtors of the state was the keynote of all the addresses that were made by the guests and the speakers."

The guests of honor were Stephen Barnson, state real estate commissioner, Hal G. Hotchkiss, president of the state association, Glen D. Williamson, state secretary, and Neil Barnson, son of the state commissioner.

E. B. Bull, president of the local board acted as toastmaster and in a fitting and pleasing manner introduced the speakers of the day. Mayor Mattie Chandler, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the City of Richmond; Al L. Paulsen, members of the local realty board on behalf of the Richmond Realtors; Supervisors C. H. Hayden of Martinez on behalf of the Contra Costa Realtors and P. M. Sanford.

At this point in the program, B. L. Spurr, head of the salesmen's division of the local board, presented the state president with a basket of beautiful flowers. Hotchkiss expressed his thanks, and said as it would be impossible for him to take the gift to his home in San Diego that he would present it to Mayor Chandler.

Glen D. Williamson, state secretary was then introduced and in part spoke as follows:

"The State of California has multiplied four hundred per cent in population since 1890, having 4,800,000 inhabitants at the first of this year against 1,200,000," declared Williamson, "whereas this state stood twenty-second in rank four censuses back, it now is seventh, preceded by New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio Texas and Michigan. And California will pass Michigan in the coming census, it is believed."

"In the past eight years, California has had invested here over $2,000,000,000 in new buildings, homes, schools, colleges, factories and industries. The substantial and orderly growth of this state places the stamp of sterling on real estate advisers purchased through a firm of discerning Realtors. The distribution of land ownership will continue to be effected on a sounder and sounder basis as the real estate organizations now welded into solid, state-wide and national institutions continue to expand in strength, influence and prestige. Their numbers are increasing everywhere, and every state has a real estate board. There are seven hundred local boards."

NEW CITIES

"Building of new cities continues to be a noteworthy chapter in the history of California's growth. New towns are springing up along the highways. Automobiles and airplanes are responsible for these new cities. Communities are growing into each other and annexing. The automobile and airplane are doing for California what the crossroads store and the blacksmith shop and the schoolhouse did in years gone by for the pioneers."

"For the eighth successive year since the war, over $300,000,000 has been invested in California. (Continued on Page 5)

Two other burglaries were reported, presumably committed by the same thief by A. H. Ward, 224 East 8th street and Gus Young, Eighth and Los Medanos streets, both of whom reported the loss of $150 each. Mrs. Mack was the only victim who reported seeing the burglar.

DOESN'T IT MATTER?

"The nation will be prosperous no matter who is its president" is the caption, of an editorial printed in the Hearst newspapers. "The president is, after all, only the National Executive. The laws of congress and the well defined wishes of the people which he carries into execution are more important than his personality," concludes the editorial.

Is it true that it does not matter to the people of the United States who is president? The president of the United States is the most powerful executive in the world. If in harmony with the congress elected with him, he is in a position to define the policies of the United States. If out of harmony with the majority in congress he is in position to deadlock the government, and put it in the position of a great business corporation with its president and board of directors at odds, and working at cross purposes.

There is an all too common belief that the national government runs of its own momentum; that it does not much matter what are its policies the result is about the same. This would not be believed of any other great enterprise. Business concerns succeed or fail in accordance with the wisdom of their management and especially of their underlying policies. What is true of the business enterprise, is true of the national government.

The influence of our national executive upon national policies is very great. The presidency is a broad-casting station which reaches the ears of every American and of the whole world. If congress is out of harmony with the will of the executive, the presidency is the most effective agency for changing public opinion in existence.

In the field of foreign affairs the influence of the presidency is especially great. A president may initiate foreign policies which either in their acceptance or rejection profoundly affect the status of the government of the United States. It is impossible that the influence of a president like Governor Smith, who has been an ardent advocate of the League of Nations including Article X, would be the same as that of a president who believes in the policy of avoiding international political entanglements. It is impossible that the influence of a president who believes in firmly upholding the rights and just interests of the United States abroad, should be the same as that of a president committed to the theory that the American who travels or invests abroad does so entirely at his own risk, and is not entitled to the protection of his own government.

It is true that the prosperity and security of the United States does not depend upon the election of any one man to the presidency. That the welfare of the American people might not be affected by the election of a candidate for President who does not represent the popular will in reference to certain principles and policies, is a statement that cannot be logically supported. Men should be supported or opposed for high executive or legislative office not on

Sardine Trust Busted Through Work Of Girl

A woman lawyer of Portland, Maine, is receiving full credit for the breaking up of an allegedly illegal combine which was enabled to control 85 per cent of the Maine sardine pack. She is Mary G. Connor, a special assistant to the attorney general in Washington.

Directing a Department of Justice inquiry into sardine packing conditions in Maine, after the receipt of a complaint last December, Miss Connor prosecuted the case which has just ended with the decree, entered to by the defendants without contest, that the Maine Cooperative Sardine Company dissolve within six months and that hereafter the various companies of the state market their products individually. The decree, affecting forty-two companies, was handed down by Judge John A. Peters in the United States District Court here before whom was heard the government's charge that the group had engaged in a combination and conspiracy in undue and illegal restraint of interstate trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman antitrust act.

The fight by Miss Connor began when a bill in equity was filed in December, 1926, against the company and forty-one packers, whose output represented 85 per cent of the state's output. The bill alleged the restraint in interstate trade and commerce in standard sardines, which are low-priced herring packed in cotton-seed oil and with a big profit among the Southern and Middle states.

As an instrument for executing the alleged conspiracy, the packers, according to the government charges, organized the Maine Cooperative Sardine Company as exclusive sales agents for all plants with curtailment and allotment of production, fixing and maintenance of price, elimination of competition among producers and taking away of preferences as to various brands from purchasers.

Indicating the scope of the sardine industry in Maine is the evidence of the records, showing that $6,716,791 was the value of the output in 1925. The Maine Cooperative Sardine Company was organized in September, 1924, and Robert Peacock has served as president since. It was capitalized at a half million dollar.

Uniform and increased prices were fixed by the corporation, it was charged. Export was designated as an arbitrary freight base, the government showed, with consumers paying excess freight on all sardines shipped from points nearer.

A. The tuxedo suit worn to stag dinners, banquets, and evening affairs; to private and public dinners, except those of a most formal nature for dining in restaurants or clubs, at informal dances or parties. After long years of married life there comes a danger point. A great many of the divorcees recorded come at the age of 45 or 50.

Married life has become commonplace. Both the husband and the wife have long ago ceased to try to keep alive the first thrills and ecstasy of being together. And it is this danger point which must be watched most carefully.

Dear Patricia Lee:

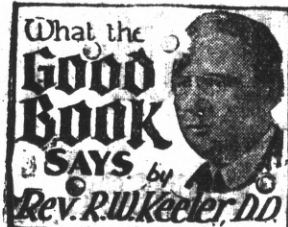

I have been married 25 years. Three years ago my husband wished me to move to the country for my health. He promised to commute, which he did. For a few months, then he grew tired and said it was too much for him, so instead of coming home every night, he only comes home once a week. After a short time I found out that my husband was going around with a woman from the neighborhood, whose husband's business keeps him out of town all day and until late at night. They know that I know all about it.

I feel so lonesome and unhappy. For all the years when we had nothing and had lots of trouble, I was good enough to be my husband's pal, but now that he is quite wealthy, he goes around with another man's wife. Please do not tell me to move back to the city, as it will do no good. He will see her anyway.

LONESOME.

Of course, you feel blue about it. You can't help it. But perhaps this is not altogether your husband's fault. Not that I want to condone any man's action in becoming infatuated with another man's wife. I have no more patience with that than you have. But you and your husband are going through the most critical point in your married life. Not since the first few weeks is your happiness in much danger.

And as at any crisis, you must exert your utmost to surmount it. It is up to you to win back your husband's love, not by moaning or being lonesome, but by being so very desirable that he will want to be with you. Go out and buy the best looking clothes you can find. Find a new and very becoming way of doing your hair. Have a facial, but the snappiest shoes that you can wear and still be reasonably comfortable, and start out to camp your husband. Have the most amusing friends you have in for dinner Saturday night. Plan the things your husband likes best to do while he is home. Ask him to take you to a particular show some particular night during the week, and turn up to meet him looking like a new woman. Drag out all your long-forgotten wiles. Find outside interests, too, and occasionally be too busy to be his slave. See if it doesn't work.

Housekeepers who wish to get breakfast quickly should plan to-day for tomorrow morning. Cereal that requires considerable cooking should be cooked the day before or, during the night in a fireless cooker.

Much of the preparation for breakfast may be done the evening before. Other ways to save time in the morning are to set the table the night before, have meat for hash ready for the pan, flour and other dry ingredients for hot breads may be sifted and ready in the mixing bowl, and muffin tins may be greased or the griddle may be ready over the burner.

"THE JAZZ SINGER" starring Al Jolson, is a Warner Bros. pictureization of this novel. It is based upon the play by Samson Raphaelson.

SYNOPSIS

Cantor Rabinowitz has trained his son, Jackie, to sing the Hebrew songs of the Synagogue. On the Eve of the Day of Atonement he finds Jackie singing ragtime in a "beer garden." He whips the child and Jackie runs away. Ten years elapse. Jackie, now Jack Robin, a jazz singer, down on his luck, meets Mary Dale, a dancer, who obtains a part for him in her vaudeville act. In Chicago Mary receives an offer to star in a New York musical show, and accepts. Two weeks later is the Cantor's birthday and Jack returns to his home in the Ghetto for the first time.

"My baby! That I should live to see my Jackie again!" Mrs. Rabinowitz was wiping the tears from her eyes with the corner of her apron. "When did you come? Where have you been? Are you all right, Jackie?" The questions tumbled out disregarding any answers.

"Of course I'm all right, Mama," Jack laughed. "I just got off the train, and the first thing I did was to come down and see you and papa. How is papa? Where is he?"

"O, he's to the Synagogue. He will be back soon, and so glad he will be to see you," Mrs. Rabinowitz sighed.

"Is papa well?" Jack sat on the arm of his mother's chair, his arm about her.

"Yes, yes, thank God, Jackie, you will live here with us, no?"

"I'd love to, Mama, but I can't. I wired for a room at the hotel. I have to see some people uptown on business."

"Don't be foolish, Jackie," Mrs. Rabinowitz looked up at her son.

"O, I'll never forget how much it cost to fix it," Mrs. Rabinowitz rejoined smartly.

"Let's forget about that, Mama," Jack laughed. "Does that phonograph play?" He walked over to the machine and began to examine the records. "O, Mama, what expensive records—'Il Trovatore,' 'Pagliacci!' You haven't got 'Red Hot Mama,' have you? What's that?" Mrs. Rabinowitz questioned in bewilderment.

"If you had a piano, I'd show you."

"Sure, we got a piano. The congregation presented it to your papa last year. It's in the front room."

"Ay, ay, ay, ay, ay! A piano! You've been holding out on me. First thing I know you'll be going to afternoon teas and dancing the Charleston."

"Jackie, you know papa would scold! Come see the piano."

Mother and son hurried off into the parlor, and Mrs. Rabinowitz stood beaming while Jack admired the instrument.

"Look, Mama, I'll play you something," Jack twirled the piano stool about and sat down, running his fingers over the keys. He broke out into a jazz air, merrily thrumming the rhythmic beat and sounding out the words with all the fervor with which his appearance, on the stage was identified.

"Jackie! Jackie! You mustn't! It ain't right," Mrs. Rabinowitz's hands went to her head as though to ward off the shock and horror she felt.

But neither of them in the excitement of the moment had heard the door open to admit the Cantor. And as he walked into the dining room he suddenly began to realize that these sacrilegious sounds were coming from within his own home.

He threw his prayer book on the table and walked towards the parlor, his face set in grim determination. At that moment Jack and his mother entered the dining room.

"You'll like it, Mama, after you get used to it. I'll sing you a lot more," Jackie was laughing. But as he turned he came face to face with his father. Automatically he backed away. Then he forced a smile. "Why, hello, Papa!" He held out his hand.

The Cantor disregarded the proffered offer of friendship and took a step towards his son.

"What are you doing in my house?" he demanded sternly. "Papa, it's your son, Jackie. He said 'Hello' to you," Mrs. Rabinowitz pleaded, gazing terrified from one to the other.

"What do you mean coming in my house and playing on my piano with your low-life music!" the Cantor boomed.

CHAPLIN FILM IS LAUGH RIOT AT CALIFORNIA

Scientists claim that the one distinguishing difference between men and animals is the fact that the former laugh and the latter do not. This concept is due to receive a severe jolt, at least in the popular mind, by the performance of Akka, the remarkable chimpanzee in Warner Bros. production of "The Missing Link," starring Syd Chaplin and directed by Charles F. Reisner.

Mr. Chaplin said, after working in a scene with Akka, "I have just finished reading a ponderous German scientific book in which the author spends many pages in an effort to prove that man is the only animal that laughs or has a sense of humor. His arguments seem very plausible, but after seeing Akka actually laugh in this and other scenes I doubt their truth."

"Akka has one game which he particularly likes to play, and which he plays under very entertaining circumstances with Mr. Chaplin in 'The Missing Link,' and that is 'Tickle, Tickle.' First his master chuckles Akka under the chin. The monkey goes into paroxysms of laughter, silent at first, but later with typical laughing sounds from the throat. Then the master quits and it is Akka's turn. He reaches out a finger and chucks his master under the chin, chuckling joyously. They alternate this, until the master becomes tired of it. Akka also laughs at many other things. I am assured that he, at least, has a sense of humor."

Syd Chaplin in "The Missing Link" will be screened for the last time today.

Other features on the same program include another story of "The Collegians" entitled "Sliding Home"; "Screen Snapshots"; and "Current News Events."

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically, and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or grating."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling, because it is so pure and harmless. And works so fast. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

COMEDY BILL IS FEATURED AT RICHMOND

For thrills, chills and a thousand laughs see "The Gorilla," the mystery comedy melodrama, that opened at the Richmond Theatre last night, with Charlie Murray and Fred Kelsey featured as the two demon sleuths, Mulligan and Garriety. "The Gorilla," written by Ralph Spence as a stage play, in its screen version is one of the fastest, spookiest thrillers to be seen here in some time. "The Gorilla" himself is a weird, menacing looking ape, and every time he appears the crowds shriek as if he were right in the audience.

Anyone who has seen the stage play will recognize the cast of players and the story plot—except the ending. That has been changed so that a complete surprise is sprung when the final scene is enacted.

The new screen team of Murray and Kelsey live up to their advance notices. They make a typical pair of detectives who suspect everyone in the place but themselves.

Alfred Santell, the director, is to be commended on his clever handling of a difficult story. It is closely knit and full of action. The photography is eerie and weird and proves again that a mystery angle can be carried out with all the thrills, without pistol shots, screams and other sounds usually found in a play of this type.

Situations are built upon situations, until almost everyone is implicated—also the gorilla. An excellent cast, including Alice Day, Tully Marshall, Claude Gillingwater, Walter Pidgeon, Gas-ton Glass, Brooks Benedict, Aggie Herring and Syd Crossly, make up the inhabitants of the mystery house.

Other film features on the same program include Charlie Chaplin in one of the comedy bits of "The Missing Link," and the sixth thrilling chapter of "The Crimson Flash," featuring Cullen Landis.

Secretary

GLENN D. WILLAMAN, Secretary of the California Real Estate Association, who spoke on the advantages and future progress of the state.

600,000 was invested in new buildings in this state.

"Increased bank deposits, savings and clearings and 1,200,000 depositors of one bank predict it will soon be the world's largest bank."

"Larger enrollment in the schools, colleges and universities. This increase is reported annually."

"Practically every community in the state reports 50 to 500 per cent increase in population since the last census."

"Commerce was heavier and more valuable at leading ports and hundreds of steamship lines now call at our harbors."

"Travel to California by train, boat, motor and by air maintained a high value, bringing to real estate an ever endless procession of prospective investors."

"Three bridges now span San Francisco bay and armlets and four more viaducts are projected, each evidence of state's steady growth."

"Highway building was resumed on a widespread scale with assurance that California will soon realize her ambition to have fully paved links on principal routes. Nearly $50,000,000 for new highways this year."

"Hal G. Hotchkiss, state president, followed in a talk that was replete with interest. After thanking the local board for the reception he took up his address, and in part spoke as follows:

"Our State Association is made up of the best known real estate officers throughout the state," he said. Over 150 cities are represented in its membership, and it works for the entire state."

BROKER MAKES VALUES

"The broker has it within his power to make or break real estate values. It is his duty to see that property is put to its proper use. To see that homes are built where they can be used as such. To see that industries are developed in the most natural location. That sub divisions are rightly restricted and developed with high standards which will make them a credit to the community and that no man or woman is induced to buy property that they cannot adequately handle. I have no more sympathy for a broker or salesman who gets into trouble for giving wrong advice and misadvising people than I have for any other law breaker."

QUOTES COOLIDGE

"I will quote here from President Calvin Coolidge as to the duties and responsibilities of the Realtor. Our President addressed the national convention at the White House, and said: 'The real estate business offers an opportunity for public service. Not only does the real estate man perform a useful economic function. By developing home ownership, by directing land utilization, he is performing a function which partakes of statesmanship. There are few factors more fundamental in the formulating of institutions and the maintenance of governments than the distribution of land ownership. In the hands of the real estate men of this country, therefore, rests, in a large measure, the preservation of present institutions of individualism and freedom which have made our country great.'"

STATE DEPARTMENT

"The State Real Estate Department was created from the mind of the Realtor. Our Department governs the activities of 65,000 licensees and is the model used by 25 other state legislatures."

CITY PLANNING

"City planning is vital. No city can develop and grow without a plan. We are all spending millions to correct mistakes in city building. Our city planning committee is holding conferences and making scientific study of proper city planning. A very important problem."

FUTURE OF STATE

"We in California are fortunate indeed. We live in and are selling a great state to which the eyes of the world are turned. Our growth is just starting. No one can tell how great the West coast will become. There are only about 9,000,000 people on the Pacific Coast and California alone has room for and can support comfortably 50,000,000. We have but to get the knowledge of what California is and has back to the people of the East and population will come. It is our duty as Realtors to locate them, build for them and make them welcome. And above all see that they are fairly dealt with and ours will be a happy lot. We will prosper and grow with this greatest State in the Union, the Golden State, California."

The last speaker was Stephen Barnson, state real estate commissioner, who said in part: "General service rendered the speaker of the day."

CHICK ROACH GAINS VICTORY FROM VAHEY

Fighting a strong yet cautious fight, "Chick" Roach, Vallejo fighter, took the eighth round decision from Tim Vahey, San Francisco slugger at Joseph Rossi's El Cerrito fight show last night. The peculiar style employed by Roach was too much for the less experienced Vahey, who couldn't even get in an effective blow. Roach had his opponent puzzled all the way through the fight, and his body blows were telling on the San Francisco boy when the going ended the fight. When Eddie Hanlon, raised the hand of Roach, the crowd knew that no mistake had been made.

The fight that drew the most comment of the evening was the semi-windup in which "Tiger" Bob Robinson and George Matty battled their way to a draw. The fighting was good all the way through because of the swiftness of the colored boy, and the stubborn resistance of Matty. Robinson danced around the ring like a cork on the water, and took no chances of George Matty getting set for a punch. For he had been instructed that when Matty hits he hits hard. That fact was demonstrated last night when Robinson found himself on the floor for a few seconds after his chin had connected with the glove of Matty. The boy was game though and came right back for more.

Joe Limas is going right along in his fight career. He had only to exert himself for about 50 seconds last night in order to collect his prize. His scheduled rival, Mickey Dolan, of Oakland could not show and Jimmy Ryan, who substituted was no match for the fighting Joe Limas.

A good fight while it lasted was the Al Macdonald-Niles Shaffer affair. Both of these boys are from Oakland, but they forgot that fact last night, and milled away at each other as though they had a grudge. Anyway in the second round after Macdonald had scored a knockdown the seconds for Shaffer thought that their man was exerting himself too much, so they jumped in to save him from further punishment.

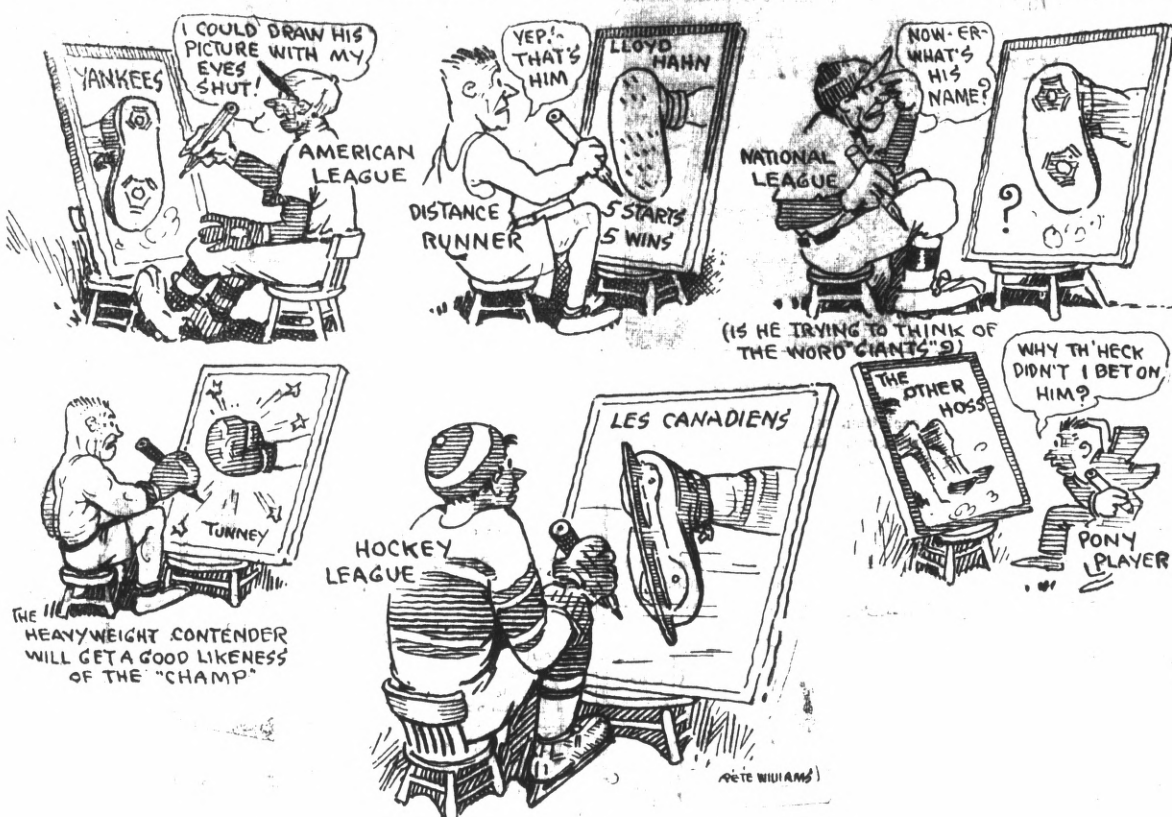

Pete Marshall, another El Cerrito boy who was scheduled to go the curtain raiser with Jimmy Reeves, Oakland, could not appear for some unknown reason, and Johnny Ramos substituted. Ramos was in good condition for the fight and he showed it by giving as many as he took from Reeves. The house was filled to capacity, and the way the fighters went at it makes those in attendance feel that their money was well spent. Ed Wuelser was on hand to announce the fighters, Dr. Spaulding was there for any emergency, and Clarence Brensel kept time.

SPORTS BY COMPETENT AUTHORITIES—

By Pete Williams

THE HEAVYWEIGHT CONTENDER WILL GET A GOOD LIKENESS OF THE "CHAMP"

THAT'S THEM, O.K.

Tris Speaker is due to draw his unconditional release from the Senators today, and you can look for a definite announcement of what Spoke will be doing on April 11 next, shortly after Connie Mack has already intimated that he will have something to say about Speaker's future in a couple of days. It is likely that Connie and Speaker have already agreed over propositions for next season, and that an announcement is only waiting for the "formality" of Tris' release from the Senators. At any rate, something definite on Speaker will be along before the teams hit off for the Southland.

Mack certainly is determined to make a race of it in the American League this season despite the general prophecies that the Yanks won't have any competition. Connie wants another pennant before he quits the management of the A's, and just how badly he wants it was plainly shown last season when he signed Eddie Collins, Zach Wheat and Ty Cobb to wallop the White Elephants home in front. His disappointment was great when these old timers fell down on him, but he's evidently going to try the same thing over again in the hope that it will work this time.

Speaker has fallen off in his playing since he drove the Indians to within a couple of games of the pennant in 1926, but he's still a great outfielder. He's weather-beaten, but he's not fragile, and Spoke can go through a full season at an even pace. He can hit he can still run, and still throw, and Mack has a real opening in his outfield for him. However, it is hardly likely that Connie, even in his anxiety to see Speaker in a Philadelphia uniform, will pay anything like the enormous salaries he handed out to Collins and Cobb last year. Speaker has to take a cut in his salary, and if he won't take it from Mack he take it from another club, or he won't play in the majors.

John McGraw continues to enjoy his annual vacation in Havana without burning up the cable wires over getting in touch with Speaker. Speaker and Cobb have frequently been mentioned as possible Giants in 1928, but even the Giants, who drew the greatest number of customers in the National League last season, aren't going to dig down in the suits to make up the salary demands of these two veterans. "A winning team, even if it has not any outstanding stars, will bring them into the Polo Grounds just the same," has been McGraw's argument in the past, and if he can put together a winning team without a couple of $50,000 beauties Hornsby goes is "proof enough" that they have full confidence of them from Maryland was of more aid than a whole kitful of arnica and more valuable than a locker room full of coaches.

JACK always carried an immense bag full of knickknacks. You never knew what he was going to pull out. He had trick razors, new kinds of razors, new-fangled gloves, pictures, hunting trip souvenirs, golfing, fishing tackle and eyeshades, not to mention a portable radio.

HE WAS THE MOST POPULAR GIANT OF THEM ALL.

REMEMBER the night Hornsby joined the Giants. He hooked on from a transfer. Every one had gone to bed. Hajah made a beeline for the clubhouse. He climbed aboard. The two sat up and talked for an hour and a half in Bent-ley's berth. AND IN CASE you have not heard, Andy Reese is supposed to be one of the best jumpers, broad and high in baseball.

AND THE GIANTS EAT OUT DOORS. WITH NO ROOF MAINTENANCE. WITH NO ROOF OVERHEAD. WHEN THEY GO TO STADIUMS.

MEAN big things about another new Giant catcher.

First it was Pittsburgh Jack Cummings who grabbed all the kind words at the end of the season.

THEN came that Hornsby deal and Frank Hogan. The strapping youngster, form the Hub has been praised so much they'll expect a couple homers a day or else call him a bust.

Few weeks later, Giants' office comes out with announcement that Jumbo Barrett, a Salby Leaguer, who busted thirty home runs last year, has signed up.

WHICH made three highly touted youthful receivers.

NOW comes a new one. His name is Joe Whitty. Jim Carrigan, a bat expert, whose job is selling bludgeons to ball players, comes back from Chicago with glowing reports on Whitty.

SAYS Whitty has a rep out there for being a plain bustin' fell and nothing else.

WONDERFULLY BUILT BUT ONLY 20 YEARS OLD. LOOKS LIKE ADONIS WHEN DON WAS IN HIS PRIME.

Was a whale of a football player at Loyola College on north of Chicago.

ACE HUDKINS WINS DECISION FROM BAKER

NEW YORK, Feb. 17.—A wild swipe from the flailing paw of Ace Hudkins, the Nebraska wildcat in the second round of his ten-round fight with Sergeant Sammy Baker at Madison Square Garden tonight, which sent the soldier boy kicking for the count of nine played a big part in giving Ace Hudkins of Lincoln the decision in the important bout.

Hudkins also dropped Baker in the sixth. There was a cry of "low blow" but the referee apparently had not seen it that way and he ordered Baker to his feet and the soldier rose at the count of nine.

The fight between the wild Nebraska wildcat and the Mitchell Field soldier was one of the fastest seen in Tex Richards' fight palace in many moons. Each had won a decision in a former fight and tonight's bout was to decide an opponent for Champion Baltimore Joe Dundee.

During a practice which has extended over many years, I have evolved some methods of treatment of chronic diseases radically different from those in use by the generality of the Medical Profession, and which are well worthy of a trial. If you have any kind of standing trouble of any kind call and see me and I will talk over your case and see what can be done to give you relief.

LUTHERANS AND SAINTS, HIGH WESLEY WIN CONTEST IN S. F. TONIGHT

Two games played on the courts of the Y. M. C. A. last night brought Grace Lutherans and Wesley Methodists one step nearer the top of the league when Wesleyans defeated the Christians 27 to 12 in the first game and the Grace Lutherans handed the San Pablo Baptists a defeat by the score of 39 to 19.

A few minutes after the starting of the second game, Thelste, the star forward of the Lutherans, sprained his ankle, and he was compelled to leave the game. It is reported that the sprain will keep him out of the contests for the remainder of the season.

A Hutton for the Wesleyans was the high point man with 12 points to his credit, and Craig for the Christians made 3 points.

In the second game of the evening there were more points made, and Milicevich for the winners accounted for 14 of the 39 points scored by the Lutherans. For the San Pablo Baptists, J. Pinto scored 9 points of his team's 19.

Teams played the following men:
CHRISTIANS—Forwards, Christian, Craig; center, Moore; guards, Abbey and Sprague. Brown and Livermore were substitutes.
WESLEY METHODISTS—Forwards, Crigler and Hoskings; center, A. Hutton; guards, Powell and J. Hutton, Jenkins, Hanrahan, and Black, substitutes.
SAN PABLO BAPTISTS—Forwards, Sandwick and J. Pinto; center, Wilson; guards, Swenson and Nevis. Goldsworthy, C. Pinto, Moloz, and Wilson, substituted.

GRACE LUTHERAN—Forwards, McLaughlin, Thelste, center, Milicevich guards, Baldwin, and Gullan. Santella was the only substitute.

Whatever the boys do they will fight their hardest to win for they know that they are up against a team that knows how to play. Coach Ivan Hill will have Debarere, Jackson, Baldwin, Arnold, Melin, Swenson, Flynn, and Williams on the job, besides a few more for good measure.

When the Richmond Hi quintet meets the St. Mary's Frosh tonight in Kesar pavilion they will have to find a way to work with their new combination in order to put over a win for their school. For there seems every likelihood that new faces will appear on the starting line-up tonight.

Dave Flynn, has played with the Class B's all season, but from the practices held of late it seems as though he will have a chance to start as a regular in one of the forward positions. Ray Melin will be on the job to work with Flynn, and they should make a good team.

Ogden Arnold is another boy who may start in the absence of Baldwin. Williams and Swenson are expected to be at their regular positions when the team lines up against the Saints, but there will be Bugarnier to take either one of their place in case anything happens.

What ever the boys do they will fight their hardest to win for they know that they are up against a team that knows how to play. Coach Ivan Hill will have Debarere, Jackson, Baldwin, Arnold, Melin, Swenson, Flynn, and Williams on the job, besides a few more for good measure.

of Fong Wan's new Books on Herbs Ready for Distribution

Never before has a Chinese Herbalist written a book in English. The revised edition of "Herb Lore," just off the press, contains numerous articles on Chinese Herbal Remedies, Theories and Methods of Treating Various Ailments, all written by Fong Wan himself. The contents of this book are very different from those of books composed by advertising agencies or by employed authors. The herbalists who publish such books are not even able to read what the books contain. Fong Wan's book is designed to set forth clearly the nature and preparation of herbs, and to show how these wonderful gifts of Mother Nature are used, in accordance with the ancient Chinese theories, to combat disease in its various forms. The book also contains approximately 200 testimonials, given chiefly by East Bay people who have been freed from suffering by drinking the Fong Wan Herbs.

One copy may be obtained free by each family if called for at the Fong Wan Office, or a copy will be mailed to any address upon request and receipt of 10 cents in stamps.

Van Damme countered with a proposal that required deposit of $25,000 by March 2, $50,000 of which was to have been deposited yesterday by noon, and the remainder to be paid when Long's bridge is built and operating. The Van Damme proposal demanded that the ferry company would continue to operate the ferry until the bridge is opened and agreed that the ferry firm would pay five per cent interest on the funds that Long and his associates deposited.

Insurance Planned For All County Employees

MARTINEZ, Feb. 17. — Placement of all county employees under a group insurance plan, which would permit them to secure life insurance at lower than ordinary rates, is being negotiated by Tax Collector M. W. Joost, he announced today.

Joost has conferred with several large insurance companies on the plan and announced today that he is making good progress toward putting the plan into effect. The proposal calls for insurance of all county officials, their deputies, employees in highway maintenance work, nurses and employees in other departments. Joost estimated that approximately 200 county employees would be effected by the plan.

"The group insurance plan has been invoked to the benefit of employees of large corporations. There is no reason why it cannot be made to cover employees," Joost declared. "There will be no cost to the county and individuals will be able to secure their insurance at a lower rate."

Fishermen Return From Russian River

A fishing party to the Russian river, by members of the Richmond fire department, turned out to be a scouting party. Those in the crowd were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hathaway, and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Remell. Their trip took them around Mirabel and Forestville, in the Russian river area. Many steel heads were seen in the river, but the muddy condition of the water made it impossible to attract the fish to be expected.

POWER LOBBY IS HEADED FOR INVESTIGATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17. — The power lobby, most formidable and highly financed organization of its kind ever active in Washington, appeared to be headed tonight toward investigation by the U. S. Senate.

Developments today showed that many of the leading members of the senate believe that the lobby, which defeated the Walsh resolution for a senate probe of the Power trust, should be thoroughly investigated and its methods exposed.

A resolution to authorize such an investigation is being drafted. The movement gained added impetus when several conservative members of the senate expressed disgust at the methods used by the lobby in killing the Walsh proposal.

PROGRESS IN M. E. HOSPITAL WORK SHOWN

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 15. — Bishop Thomas Nicholson, Detroit, Mich., presided at the opening session of the annual meeting of the board of hospitals, homes, and deaconess work of the Methodist Episcopal church, Tuesday, February 14. The meeting was held at the Methodist Book Concern and is in session February 14-15. Dr. N. E. Davis, corresponding secretary of the board, in his annual report said:

"Marked progress was made in 1927 in hospitals, homes and deaconess activities. Several hospitals have been completed and gifts made to institutions have far exceeded those of any previous year to institutions of the Methodist Episcopal church."

"St. Luke's hospital, Cleveland, costing $4,000,000, was dedicated in December. Gifts to the amount of $3,500,000 were made to this institution by Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Prentiss. This hospital ranks among the largest and best equipped in America, having 350 beds and is built on the cathedral type of architecture."

"Christ hospital, Cincinnati, has been the recipient of gifts to the amount of $2,500,000, with which to build a new hospital and nurses home, and also a million or more for the purpose of establishing a medical research laboratory, to be equipped in the very modern fashion and as fine as money can possibly produce."

"A gift of $750,000 has been received by the Methodist Children's home at Detroit for the building of ten new homes for orphan children."

"The new Palmer Hospital for cancer research was established in Boston under the auspices of the New England Deaconess Assn. with gifts to the amount of $100,000. This is modern in every appointment to meet the modern conditions in treatment of cancer."

"During the past four years the hospital properties and endowments have made an increase of $27,000,000, while the receipts of the hospitals have increased five million dollars. An increase of $5,000,000 has been made in the buildings, property and endowment fund of the 44 homes for aged, while there has been an increase of $4,000,000 in the 45 homes for children. Fifty-three deaconess homes have a total valuation of $9,000,000. Five deaconess schools have a total value of $6,000,000. Homes for business girls and young men have a total property value of $1,189,000. Among the new homes dedicated this group has been the deaconess home for girls at Milwaukee."

"The total property valuation and endowment for all hospitals and homes in the United States represents a figure of $75,000,000 which is an increase of $25,000,000 since 1920."

"The Deaconess Work of the Methodist Episcopal Church is in the best condition it has ever been in its history, having been established by the General Conference of 1888. There are now 2,100 deaconesses at work in the United States and Europe. Ninety-eight deaconess institutions in the United States are serving a vast multitude of people. The thousands of deaconesses in Europe are graduate nurses and serving in all types of Christian activity. Among the outstanding deaconess institutions of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States is the German Central Deaconess Hospital Association of Cincinnati, with 16 institutions representing a total monetary value of $4,000,000."

"Thirty-four hundred nurses are in training in 78 hospitals. One of the finest training schools for nurses in the country is Wesley Hospital in Chicago. This hospital also has a great building program for the future. It has been the recipient of a gift of $350,000."

"The National Methodist Episcopal Sanatorium for Tuberculosis, of Colorado Springs is owned and operated by the Board and during the past six years, 400 patients suffering from tuberculosis have been cared for in this institution. Approximately $45,000 has been given in tribute and part pay service by the institution to worthy young people who have suffered from this disease."
